'Little Hoover' Commission

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The office of Gov. James A. Rhodes announced Tuesday that Ohio's finance director went to Little Rock to help set up a "Little Hoover Commission."
Rhodes' office said Richard Krabach conferred with Thomas Eisele, an aide to Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller. Rhodes has allowed various states to confer with Krabach on financial matters.

Arkansan Is Re-elected

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The president of the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation, Harold F. Ohlendorf of Osceola, was re-elected treasurer of the National Cotton Council Tuesday.
Officers elected to the Arkansas unit of the council were Lon Mann of Marianna, chairman; Thomas Murchison of Coy, vice chairman and Tracy D. Jones of Little Rock, secretary.

Powell Gets His Day in Court

By JOHN BECKLER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Adam Clayton Powell, toppled as a power in Congress and brought to the brink of expulsion, gets his "day in court" today.
The flamboyant Harlem Democrat, who has refused to go before other forums, appears before nine House members chosen to recommend whether Powell should be seated or barred from House membership. He already has been deposed as a committee chairman.
Their choice largely may be determined by Powell's performance today.
Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the select committee considering Powell's case, said Tuesday no other witnesses have been called and no other plans made for the inquiry.
"It all depends on what happens Wednesday," he said.
The committee was established by the House Jan. 10 when it refused to seat Powell until his qualifications were examined. The committee's recommendation, due by Feb. 23, will be subject to a House vote.
Celler has said Powell would be questioned about allegations of misconduct while serving as chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, and about extensive litigation in New York that has caused him to be convicted of contempt of court.
Powell's attorneys already have filed a brief with the committee declaring that a duly elected member must be seated if he meets the constitutional qualifications of age, citizenship and residence in the state electing him.
Powell was elected overwhelmingly to a 12th term in Congress last November.
Powell, who has been fishing and relaxing in the Bahamas for the last several months, flew back to Washington Monday and spent most of his time conferring with eight attorneys.

Germany Is Reluctant to Sign Pact

By ENDRE MARTON
WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreign Minister Willy Brandt is expected to tell President Johnson today it will be difficult for West Germany to sign a nuclear nonproliferation treaty unless non-nuclear nations are allowed to use atomic energy for peaceful purposes.
Brandt's warning, diplomatic sources advised, represents the growing uneasiness of a number of industrialized, non-nuclear countries. The list, it is suggested, includes Sweden, Switzerland, Italy, India, Japan, Israel and perhaps one or two Latin-American nations.
Brandt, 53, who arrived Tuesday, planned to call on Johnson late this afternoon after talks with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach and presidential advisor Walt W. Rostow.
He also is scheduled to meet with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.
This is the first Washington visit of the Socialist leader since he became foreign minister and vice chancellor in West Germany's new coalition government. He was a frequent visitor here during his nine years as mayor of West Berlin.
West Germany's reservations about the treaty have been spelled out by Brandt and others in public speeches, and Brandt put them in a memorandum to Rusk last week.

Alvin Easterling, left, watches as Mayor John B. Gardner signs a proclamation for National Beauty Salon Week now being observed.

PROCLAMATION
WHEREAS, the professional hairdressers and cosmetologists of our community have dedicated themselves to the highest standards of professional beauty care; and
WHEREAS, National Beauty Salon Week will be observed in our community, as well as throughout the nation, during the week of February 12, 1967, by the 70,000 members of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association; and
WHEREAS, the members of this national association of Cosmetologists are donating professional beauty care to less fortunate women in hospitals, homes for the aged, and other such institutions, in a public service program of institutional welfare, thereby contributing to the physical and mental welfare of these Americans; now,
THEREFORE, I, John B. Gardner, Jr., Mayor of the City of Hope, Arkansas do hereby proclaim the week of February 12, 1967 as "NATIONAL BEAUTY SALON WEEK" and commend it to the attention of our citizens as a week to recognize the Cosmetologists in our community for their five sense of civic responsibility, and their dedicated services to the beauty of women everywhere.
IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the City of Hope to be affixed this 7th day of February, 1967.

Would Like to Share With Coeds
PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—Most undergraduates at Princeton University expressing views in a student poll would like to share their classrooms with coeds.
A survey of 600 students showed that 49 per cent favored girls at Princeton and 44 per cent voted against them. Seven per cent had no opinion.
Most of the dissenters aid the ladies would distract them from studying.
the treaty's effectiveness would be reduced greatly and possibly eliminated if it differentiated between nuclear experiments for peaceful and nonpeaceful purposes. But at the same time U.S. officials privately acknowledge that there is some logic in Brandt's argument.
Despite this difference in views, there is general belief here that the Germans and other critics eventually will sign if the Geneva Disarmament Conference agrees on such a treaty when it convenes Feb. 21.

Plane Shot Down in N. Vietnam

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—A U.S. photo reconnaissance plane was downed in North Vietnam and more than a score of shooting incidents were reported in South Vietnam following the start of the lunar new year truce today.
Most of the incidents were small, and both sides appeared disposed to hold their fire.
The American reconnaissance plane went down at noon, five hours after the truce took effect, and presumably was the victim of Communist groundfire. The pilot bailed out and a U.S. destroyer rescued him from the Gulf of Tonkin 15 miles north of Dong Hoi.
It was the 472nd U.S. plane reported lost over North Vietnam.
Of 22 incidents reported by the U.S. and South Vietnamese military commands in the first 10 hours of the truce, eight were classified as significant. Most were exchanges of fire by patrols or sniper fire at helicopters.

Tax Return Gives Data to Uncle Sam

WASHINGTON (AP)—Your income tax return is going to tell Uncle Sam more than just how much tax you owe.
Statistics on income, population and a host of other social analyses will be compiled from the tax returns due by April 17. Information from your return might even be used in a federal check if you apply for a government job.
"If you think your income tax return is strictly confidential, you're mistaken," one congressional source said today, lining up with critics who say the government should be satisfied to learn what the taxpayer owes.
But the supplementary data processing will be even easier this year because every return will be read by computer.
It's against the law for an employee of the Internal Revenue Service to divulge the income, profits, losses and spending or any other information listed in tax returns, but this doesn't mean the data are always a secret.
Anyone may ask a district director of Internal Revenue whether you filed a tax return

Wednesday, February 8, 1967 for a given year and the district director can say "yes" or "no" but divulge no further information.
But government agencies can obtain tax returns under provisions spelled out by IRS and executive orders. So can state taxing officials and some foreign governments with which the United States has tax treaties.
Three congressional committees — the House Ways and Means, the Senate Finance and the Senate-House Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation — have access to any IRS files.
For a federal agency to obtain a tax return, the request must be signed by the agency head and sent to the Internal Revenue commissioner who acts on the request himself. He must be satisfied that the reason given is legitimate.
The Senate Judiciary subcommittee on Administrative Practice and Procedure found that federal agencies sought access to tax records for reasons including an investigation of an Air Force employee, a disbarment case, a Civil Service Commission inquiry into an application for a federal job and an investigation by the Federal Communications Commission of a radio station licensee.

JUST A MIX-UP, MAM

Dear Helen: Do you know whether some people consider the gift of an apron inappropriate? I know a few resent receiving soap, no matter how attractively packaged, and others reject handkerchiefs which they say denote tears.

A year ago I gave an office associate a pretty little apron. This Christmas we exchanged gifts again and imagine my surprise to find in my package the same apron. Is she trying to tell me something?—BETSY

Dear Betsy: . . . Only that she had an over-supply of aprons and she goofed.—H.

Dear Helen: I've had two men in my life for the past five years, loved both, married, and then divorced both. But I'm still back and forth with both.

When I get mad at one, I go to the other. Each is glad to have me. They treat me fine for a while, then mistreat me, so back I go to the opposite.

They're good friends. Neither will marry me again, as it might break up their friendship. Right now I'm at my apartment crying. They're out on the town together. I need more consideration. I'd like to settle down. How?—FOOTBALL

Dear F: When you turn yourself into a football, what else can you expect but to be "up in the air," or kicked around? If you don't like the penalties, get out of the game.—H.

Dear Helen: Should elderly parents take the attitude, "We raised you, now it is your turn to take care of us?" My dad has lived it up all his life and doesn't have a dime saved.

He is going to take his retirement money (put aside by the company) in a lump sum and he and Mother are going on a trip around the world. After that they'll only have Social Security and you know how far THAT goes—it wouldn't even pay rent, utilities and food.

They expect to move into our extra bedroom. They figure if they give us $75 a month, we should be very happy to have them. They aren't easy to live with, as they try to boss our kids and don't approve of the way we raise them.

If Dad keeps his retirement in the company fund, he'll have enough each month to live well on (in their own apartment) and maybe save for a few trips too. It isn't that they've "done without" all these years—they've had fun as they went.

Are we selfish or are they? —MRS. X.

Dear Mrs. X. They are! Parents should never consider children their "old age insurance"—especially when they have a company retirement fund!—H.

Dear Helen: Okay, you and your nylon-complaining readers win! You've forced me to write a letter to a columnist.

If you want longer wearinghose which looks just as sheer, buy 30-denier. How American woman was ever hoodwinked into the 10 and 15-denier "super-sheers" for every day wear is a mystery only manufacturers know. But suddenly, she was asked for 30-denier, she was sneered at for wanting "service-weight" or the store was "out of stock." This started about 20 years ago.

Well, I'm an elephant in the memory department. I know how much longer 30-denier used to last—and I know if you insist, you can get it in stores now, but only if you put your foot down. I'm enclosing a sample pair of hose, 30-denier, which I have worn five months, still no runs. See for yourself; you can scarcely tell the difference in sheerness.—G.

Dear G: True. BUT, I asked at three stores for 30-denier hose and at each was told, "We no longer carry them." Perhaps women should start a campaign, yes?—H.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The unlimited possibilities of the art of animation are being demonstrated these weekends at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art.

"Projected art" from nations of the world is the subject of a new exhibit showing here prior to moving to the Museum of Modern Art in New York. The exhibition represents a growing realization that the movie cartoon, once a program filler, can achieve distinction as art.

But animation, being hand-crafted, is an enormously expensive medium. Producers reasoned that they had to aim for surefire entertainment. So the senseless violence of the "Tom and Jerry" ilk or the talky, slow-moving "Flintstones."

But in recent times artists in such places as Canada, Japan, France and Czechoslovakia, most of them working with subsidies, have been pushing the animated art to new limits. The International Society of Film Animators was formed to sponsor film festivals and exhibitions.

One of the leaders is Ward

Kimball, veteran Disney animator. Kimball admitted the society had trouble convincing the Los Angeles County Museum on the efficacy of an exhibition of animated art last year. But after curator Henry T. Hopkins viewed some of the entries, he agreed that they were worthy of an exhibition.

Results: Last year's weekend of showings drew turnaway crowds. This year 15 performances were scheduled to handle the audience.

Last Saturday's matinee was well attended by a group that ranged from sandaled beatniks to moppets like Caroline Thomas, 8. The two extremes seemed to enjoy the offerings equally well, demonstrating the universality of the animated form.

The first offering was "Tribute to Walt Disney" — his first cartoon with synchronized sound "Steamboat Willie." Miss Thomas and others of her generation squealed with delight at the primitive gags. Even the bohemians applauded at the end, perhaps considering the 1928 cartoon to be high camp.

No Changes in District Standing

For the first time this season no changes were made in the Div. 4AA basketball standings following last week's eight game league slate. The Smackover Buckaroos and Fairview Cardinals continue to share the league lead with 8-1 records.

Crossett's Eagles continue to stay hot on the trails of the leaders but were hard pressed to win two games this past week each by a single point. Crossett defeated Magnolia 34-33 and Arkadelphia 47-46. In other results Fairview gained revenge for their lone defeat by downing Hope 72-46; Magnolia 56 Warren 53; Hope 87 Camden 51; Fairview 61 Malvern 54; Smackover 68 Malvern 44; Smackover 63 Warren 57.

Games this week: Friday-Malvern at Magnolia; Fairview at Camden; Arkadelphia at Warren; Smackover at Hope. Saturday - Hope at Magnolia; Crossett host to Warren; Camden at Smackover; Arkadelphia at Malvern.

Fairview's Barry McMahan passed the two hundred mark in individual scoring to continue with a comfortable lead in this department. He has 232-points in nine league games. Johnny Corley of Malvern moved into second place with 153 points and Mike Holloway of Smackover moved to third with 150 points.

Six teams still have a chance at making the top three positions in the standings that will earn a berth in the State AA tourney. The fourth berth will go to an "at large" member. (Lincoln of Camden, Washington of Texarkana, or Washington of El Dorado).

Question Is How Many Has He Won?

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Has Adolph Rupp, veteran basketball coach at the University of Kentucky, won 757 or 762 games in his 37-year career?

With the nation's winningest active coach closing in on Phog Allen's all-time record of 771 at Kansas this has become a key question in the collegiate hoop sport.

According to the official basketball guide published by the National Collegiate Athletic Association the 66-year-old Rupp started the current season with 747 victories against 152 defeats.

This was after Kentucky's 27-2 record last season which carried the Wildcats to the final of the NCAA championship tourney in which they were upset by Texas Western for the national collegiate title.

However, the UK basketball brochure lists Kentucky's record last season as 32-2 instead of 27-2. Thus, according to the university, Rupp started this season with 752 victories.

The Wildcats, after an early season slump, now have won four in a row for a 10-8 record on which the NCAA and the university agree.

The five games Kentucky played last August in Israel in the International University Tournament at Tel Aviv is the cause of the discrepancy between the NCAA and the UK records.

The NCAA regards these five games as exhibitions, the UK does not.

However, whether the five games in Israel count or not, Allen's 771 record is safe for at least another year.

Kentucky has eight games left and Rupp still would be one short of Allen assuming Kentucky won all eight. If the Israel games don't count and Kentucky wins its last eight, Rupp would have 765.

2nd Ranked Tarheels Given Scare

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Just when things looked blackest Bob Lewis and Larry Miller came to the rescue of the North Carolina Tar Heels.

The once beaten Tar Heels, second-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll, were trailing the aroused Virginia Cavaliers by six points late in the second half before they pulled out a 79-75 victory Tuesday night.

"We were real lucky to win this one," said Dean Smith, the North Carolina coach, after the road victory at Charlottesville, Va. It was the Tar Heels sixth in a row and upped their season record to 15-1.

The seventh-ranked Kansas Jayhawks, the only other team in the AP Top Ten to see action, knocked Nebraska out of first place in the Big Eight and took over the top spot themselves with an 84-58 home court victory over the Cornhuskers.

Iowa, led by Sam Williams' 35 points, jumped back into contention in the Big Ten race by subduing Illinois 96-89 at Iowa City. It was the Hawkeyes' 20th straight victory on their home court.

North Carolina was down by 63-57 with nine minutes left, but rallied to tie at 73-73 on two jump shots by Tom Gauntlett and Miller's layup with less than three minutes to go.

A layup by Lewis broke the deadlock and he and Miller added four more points before Virginia scored its last points on a tip-in by John Naponick with 26 seconds left.

Lewis and Miller each tallied 22 points. Mike Katos, with 19, paced the Cavaliers.

Kansas, led by Ron Franz and Rodger Bohnenstiel, with 18 points each, and 16 from Jo Jo White piled up a 51-27 bulge to topple Nebraska at Lawrence.

Nate Branch's 11 points led the Huskers who failed to score for a 10-minute span in the first half and for a six-minute span in the second half. Kansas now leads the Big Eight with 5-1, Nebraska 15-2.

Dave Scholz threw in 32 points for Illinois in a losing cause against Iowa. The winning Hawkeyes now are tied for third with Michigan State in the Big Ten at 3-2, one game back of the co-leaders, Northwestern and Indiana.

Texas Christian broke a two-game losing streak and moved back into contention for the Southwest Conference title by beating Baylor at home 96-89.

Mickey McCarthy's 21 points paced the Frogs. Darrell Hardy and Jimmy Turner each got 24 for Baylor.

Texas A&M edged Texas Tech 70-67 at College Station and Texas downed Rice 81-67 at Austin in other SWC games.

In other home court victories, Clemson whipped South Carolina 75-57, Davidson humbled Richmond 94-79, William and Mary downed Virginia Military 64-57, Memphis State subdued Mississippi State 61-53 and Purdue handed Hawaii its ninth straight defeat 93-64.

On the road, Oklahoma defeated Missouri 75-65 and Seattle conquered Portland 88-57.

Southern S. Moves on to AIC Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Southern State's smooth Muleriders, eyeing a second straight Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball title, moved methodically toward their goal Tuesday night by crushing Arkansas Tech 85-55.

Meanwhile, State College of Arkansas kept its slim title hopes alive by nudging Harding 93-92. In other conference action Ouachita Baptist beat Hendrix 78-63 and Arkansas A&M tripped Ozarks 88-87.

Donnie Denton scored 21 points and Milton Hancock added 18 as Southern State ran its AIC mark to 12-1 and its season record to 16-2. Paul Brown had 19 points for Tech.

The Muleriders, with only five AIC games remaining, need three victories to clinch a tie and only two if one is over State College. The Bears are second with a 9-3 mark while Ouachita is 9-4 and Henderson 8-5. Every other team has been eliminated.

Mickey Johnson scored 28 points in leading the Bears past Harding. Harold Alexander had 21 for Harding.

Kelton Busby's free throw with three seconds remaining broke a tie as A&M nipped Ozarks. Busby scored 28 points and Ozarks' Phil Easley had 26. Tommy Patterson scored 24 points as OBU thundered past Hendrix. Gene O'Daniel had 23 points for Hendrix.

Cunningham, Jones Keep 76ers Going

NBA ROUNDUP
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Minute-men Wally Jones and Billy Cunningham have kept the Philadelphia 76ers on the run, but Boston's sprinting quarter-horses are still on the track.

Jones and Cunningham hit baskets in the final minute Tuesday night at Pittsburgh as the 76ers edged the San Francisco Warriors 126-123 and held their six-game lead over Boston in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division race.

At Cleveland, the torrid Celtics, led by Bailey Howell and Bill Russell, reeled off 41 points in the final quarter and blasted the Cincinnati Royals 138-123 for a 13-1 mark in their last 14 starts.

Elgin Baylor poured in 14 points and Jerry West 12 in a fourth-period rally that shot Los Angeles past New York 122-117; Eddie Miles came off the bench to spark Detroit to a 98-90 decision over Chicago and Richie Guerin led St. Louis to a 109-96 victory over Baltimore in other games.

The 76ers, trailing 123-122 in less than a minute remaining, took the lead on Jones' jump shot and wrapped up their 50th victory in 58 games on Cunningham's layup with 42 seconds to play.

The Celtics turned an eight-point lead into a 115-95 margin in the first four minutes of the final period, with Howell and player-coach Russell leading the charge. Howell topped Boston scorers with 28 points. Russell had 24 points and 24 rebounds.

Down by 11 points midway in the last quarter at New York, the Lakers closed the gap in the next 2½ minutes as Baylor and West outscored the Knicks 10-2, then moved in front to stay on West's jumper with 1:40 remaining. Baylor scored 34 points over-all and West added 27. Dick Barnett paced New York with 27.

Detroit blew a 14-point lead at Chicago before Miles reeled off nine straight points, giving the Pistons a 94-88 bulge with less than two minutes to play. Miles and Dave Bing each scored 21 points for Detroit, two less than the Bulls' McCoy McLemore.

Guerin, St. Louis' player-coach, dropped in 25 points as the Hawks built a 25-11 first-quarter lead at St. Paul, Minn., and breezed the rest of the way.

AM&N Loses to Jackson
JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Ed Manning and Nathaniel Sellers scored 25 points each Monday night as Jackson State beat Arkansas AM&N 129-116 in a Southwestern Athletic Conference basketball game.

Robert Allen led AM&N scorers with 33 points.

Cal Ramsey still holds the NYU record for rebounds in one game. He made 34 against Boston College in 1957.

DeQueen Coach to Magnolia

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP) — Don Hubbard, head football coach at De Queen High School, has been named as the successor to Coach Joe Thomason at Magnolia, school officials announced Monday.

Thomason, who resigned to become administrator at an elementary school here, served as head coach at Magnolia since 1956.

Pasarell, Drysdale Top Seeded

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — Charles Pasarell and Cliff Drysdale were given the top domestic and foreign seeds today for the U.S. National Indoor Tennis Championships opening Sunday.

Pasarell, from Santee, P.R., was given the top domestic seed over Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., although Ashe was second and Pasarell fourth in the latest national rankings.

The nod went to Pasarell on the basis of his victory here in the National Indoor last year and triumph over Ashe indoors at Richmond last weekend.

Clark Graebner of Lakewood, Ohio, and Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., round out the domestic seedings.

Graebner ranks third national and Richey fifth, giving the tournament four of American's top five players based on 1966 play. The only one missing is Dennis Ralston, the No. 1 ranking player who recently signed a professional contract.

Drysdale, a South African, reached the semifinals here last year. Seeded behind him among the foreign entries were Bobby Wilson of Great Britain, Thomaz Koch of Brazil and Istvan Gulyas of Hungary.

Baylor Gives TCU the Cold Shivers

By JACK DONOVAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
A northern blow into Daniel Meyer Coliseum on the Texas Christian campus Tuesday night and it almost froze the Horned Frogs out of the Southwest Conference basketball race.

A basket and three timely free throws broke the ice and the Frogs shivered to a 96-89 victory over Baylor, moving within one game of leading Southern Methodist.

It all started when Texas Christian was coasting along with a 14-point lead late in the second half. In the last 5:41 of the game the Frogs managed only one field goal, by Wayne Kreis with eight seconds to play.

During the freeze the Bears came within two points of tying the game with 36 seconds to play. Fifteen seconds later Baylor lost its great scorer, Darrell Hardy, on fouls. That left the Bears minus their scoring punch because Jimmy Turner had fouled out earlier.

Hardy and Turner, the conference's two top point makers, scored 24 apiece. It was the first time in 64 varsity games for Hardy to foul out.

TCU's second half chill was almost a duplicate of the first half. The Frogs went without a field goal in the final 4:45 of the initial period and only six free throws by Mickey McCarty, James Cash and Kreis kept an 18-point lead from dwindling more than the 53-45 margin they took into the intermission.

The victory, paced by McCarty's 21 points and 18 from Jess Evans and 17 from Kreis, ended a two-game conference losing streak and put the Frogs' league record at 5-2. Southern Methodist is 6-1.

Baylor's loss and Texas' 81-73 victory over Rice at Austin left the Bears and Longhorns tied for third place at 4-3.

Charlie Turbough made seven of the eight field goals he tried and scored 17 points for Texas, which hit 61 per cent of its shots from the field as compared to Rice's 47 per cent.

It was Texas' 10th consecutive basketball victory over Rice. Texas A&M completed a clean sweep of triumphs for the home team by edging Texas Tech 70-67 after leading by 13 points at halftime. The Aggies assumed a fifth place tie with Rice while Tech kept last place.

Officials called 148 fouls in the three games. Baylor and TCU led with 52 personals being whistled, the Aggies and Tech had 51 and Rice and Baylor 45.

Total attendance for the three conference games was less than 11,000.

Austrians Win Bobsled Championship

By PIERO DE GARZAROLLI
ALPE D'HUEZ, France (AP) — The Austrian pair of Erwin Thaler and Reinhold Furnthaler won the 1967 Two-Man World's Bobsledding Championships today. Italy's defending champions, Eugenio Monti and Sergio Siorpaes, crashed and both were hurt.

The second place and the silver medal went to the Italian duo of Nevio De Zordo and Edoardo Tinter de Martin.

Third, in a surprise feat was the U.S. No. 2 bob of Howard Clifton of Elmore, N.Y., and James Crallo of Troy, N.Y.

The competition, raced on the new 1,000-meters Long Col de Poutan ice chute in this French Alps' resort, was marred by three accidents among sleds from 11 countries entered in the event.

Monti, who was going all out to win his 10th world title in 12 years of bob racing, turned over less than 100 meters from the finish. He suffered body bruises and a cut in his right leg. Siorpaes, his brakeman, broke his left arm.

Britain's Tony Nash and Robin Dixon, 1964 Olympic gold medalists and 1965 world champions, also turned over in the same place as Monti. Both emerged from their fall unhurt but badly shaken.

The third accident, also with no consequences for the racers, involved West Germany's Wolfgang Zimmerer and Hubert Braun.

All three crashes were blamed on the bad condition of the track.

Thaler's aggregate time for two runs was 1:55.54. He had flashed down in the first run two days ago in 58.61 seconds and was clocked today at 56.93.

It was Austria's first victory ever in world bob competition.

Baylor and West Make Lakers Go

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry West and Elgin Baylor still make the Los Angeles Lakers go in the National Basketball Association, but Fred Schauss thinks he may have dealt himself another ace in rescuing 7-foot-1 Mel Counts from the discards.

"We've been playing good ball over the last month," the Lakers' coach said Tuesday night after his club rallied behind Baylor and West for a 122-117 victory over New York. "And we've been playing better ball since Counts joined us. He's given us solid rebounding and shooting right along."

Counts, a former Oregon State star, broke into the NBA with Boston in 1964 and played two years for the champion Celtics. They traded him to Baltimore last summer for Bailey Howell and he came to the Lakers last month in the controversial, three-cornered deal involving Rudy LaRusso and Ray Scott.

LaRusso went from the Lakers to the Bullets, who passed him on to Detroit in exchange for Scott. LaRusso, however, refused to report to Detroit, was suspended and later reinstated by the Lakers, then quit the game and initiated a law suit against the league when it refused to cancel the deal.

While the Lakers, Bullets and Pistons haggled, Counts went home to Coos Bay, Ore., and waited. Twelve says after the deal was made, he joined the Lakers.

He has appeared in seven games as a back-up man for starting center Darrell Imhoff — and the Lakers have won five of those seven.

"Mel's been playing 18-19 minutes a game and averaging a rebound for every two minutes he plays," Schauss said. "That's exceptional for a part-time player. He's also been scoring about 12 points a game."

"He had a little difficulty getting in shape to play. But, you have to remember he hadn't played much before the trade and he didn't play at all while the trade was up in the air."

Clay Seems to Be Out of Opponents

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay apparently has run out of opponents able to milk a dime from closed circuit television and may have to hang up his gloves altogether if he converts some of the contenders to his Muslim faith.

The ring fighting Muslim minister, who handed Ernie Terrell a vicious beating with his fists and a taunting tongue lashing Monday night, now says he hopes to convert Terrell.

"I will some day," he said Tuesday.

The fighter who has renounced "my slave name of Cassius Clay" for the Arabic Muhammad Ali, said he wouldn't fight another Muslim. "Five of the contenders right now are just about Muslims," he said. "I wouldn't fight a brother Muslim. I would retire and give the title to them."

Clay once again mentioned Zora Folley of Chandler, Ariz., Canadian champion George Chuvalo, and 23-year-old Thad Spencer as his next three title opponents but said that former champion Sonny Liston, if in shape, was the best of them all.

Clay said he had received an invitation from the king of Saudi Arabia to make a pilgrimage to Mecca and would go in about two weeks. Then he said he wanted to fight again in 10 weeks.

His program could be Folley, the 34-year-old, No. 2 contender, at Detroit in April, Spencer in San Francisco in May or June, Chuvalo, whom he beat in 15 rounds in 1965, at the Montreal Exposition a month or so later, and possibly Liston, whom he stopped twice, in Sweden in late summer.

For his long-sloped victory over the half-blind, blood-smeared and head-lumped Terrell, Clay will collect about $750,000. Terrell may earn about $250,000.

A major portion of the income will come from the closed circuit television both here and abroad.

"But right now, there's no opponent who can draw more than a dime on closed circuit," said Bob Arum, an attorney for an official of Main Bout, Inc., which has the ancillary rights for Clay's fights.

Pro Football Names Hall of Famers

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Chuck Bednarik, Bobby Layne, Ken Strong, Joy Stydahar and Emilen Tunnell from the playing ranks and Paul Brown, Dan Reeves and the late Charles Bidwill of the coach-owner category have been named to pro football's Hall of Fame.

The eight new members were the unanimous choices of the Board of Selectors at its annual meeting Dec. 30 in Dallas but announcement was withheld until today.

The Hall of Fame, built four years ago, now has 47 members. Since its opening in 1963, almost 250,000 persons have visited the museum.

Bednarik, former center and linebacker with the Philadelphia Eagles, and Bobby Layne, veteran Texas quarterback who played with the Chicago Bears, New York Bulldogs, Detroit Lions and Pittsburgh Steelers, retired after the 1962 season. They now share the honor of being the players who were active most recently to make the grade.

Strong, halfback and kicker, came out of New York University to play with the Staten Island Stapletons, New York Giants and Yankees. He still is the Giants' all-time scoring leader with 351 points.

Stydahar, 6-foot-4, 250-pound tackle was all-pro four straight years with the Chicago Bears for whom he played from 1936-42 and from 1945-46, interrupted by service in the Navy. He later was head coach of the Los Angeles Rams for two years.

Tunnell becomes the first strictly defensive back to enter the Hall of Fame. He set all time records for punt returns (258 for 2,909 yards) and pass interceptions (79 for 1,282 yards) while playing with the Giants (1948-58) and Green Bay (1959-61).

Brown compiled a most impressive record, organizing the Cleveland Browns and leading them to four straight titles in the All-America Conference and winning seven Eastern NFL crowns and three world titles. He coached the Browns from 1946 through 1962.

Reeves made the NFL truly national when he took the Rams from Cleveland to Los Angeles in 1946, a daring gamble that paved the way to the expansion to California. He is the president of the Rams.

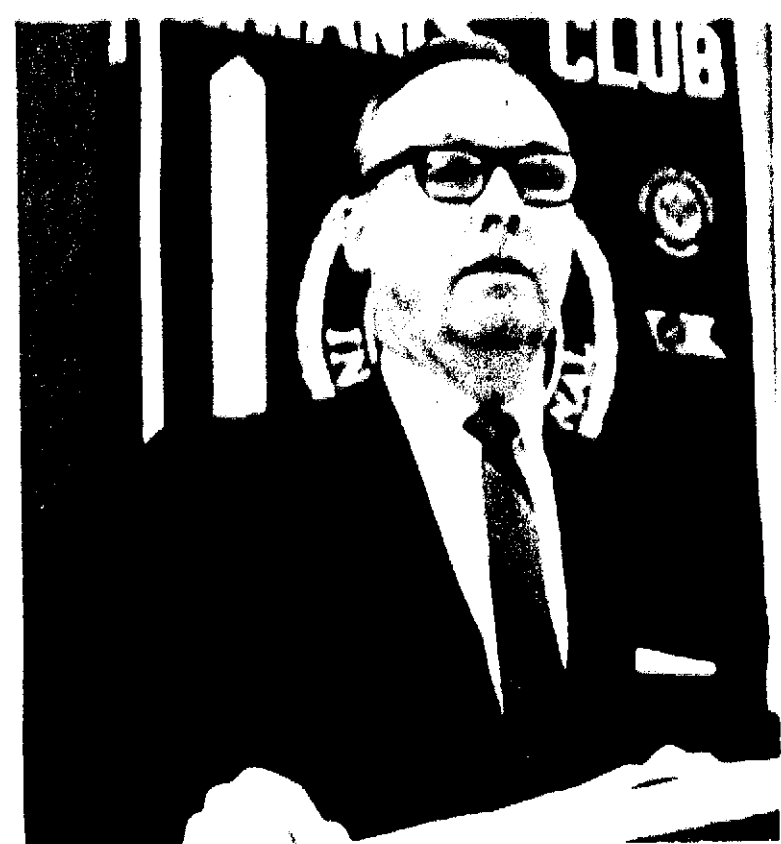

Bidwill, who died April, 1947, took over the floundering Chicago Cardinals franchise in 1933 after being a part owner of the Bears. Two of his sons, Charles W. Jr. and William, now operate the club as the St. Louis Cardinals.

No Intermission at Performance

NEW YORK (AP) — George Szell conducted Beethoven's great "Missa Solemnis" without an intermission Monday night in Carnegie Hall as the first of the season's offerings by the Cleveland Symphony.

The big score was an hour and 18 minutes, and there was no intermission to shatter the mood. Critics said the idea, presumably Szell's, was a wonderful one.

Willie James Really Has Not Moved

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Willie James Foster is still in the Ohio penitentiary and that institution hasn't been moved, even though a letter didn't reach Foster at that address.

Common Pleas Judge George N. Kiroff mailed to Foster some court records that he had asked for. Foster is serving 10 to 25 years on an armed robbery charge from November 1965. He wrote the court asking for some of his records.

Judge Kiroff addressed them in care of Post Office Box 511, the address in Columbus given by Foster. Tuesday the judge got his letter back in the mail — marked "Moved, left no address."

Penitentiary officials, who confirmed that Box 511 was the prison address, said that Foster had not moved.

Quick Rescue Key to Space Survival

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — An Air Force scientist says spacemen could survive exposure to the vacuum of space if they are rescued quickly.

Scientists earlier believed that the pressure difference would cause the blood to boil and possibly cause the body to explode. Alfred G. Koestler, however, says chimpanzees have returned to good health after 3½ minutes in a simulated space environment.

Koestler, director of a chimpanzee research program at Holloman Air Force Base, N.M., said in a lecture Tuesday at the school of aerospace medicine here that chimps that have been breathing pure oxygen are suddenly exposed to the vacuum of a simulated 150,000-foot altitude during tests at Holloman. Of 18 involved, he said, only one died. Others returned to normal work routines within from a few seconds to 40 minutes. Recovery was complete within four hours, he added.

City Bill to Bring a Forced Veto

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House voted Tuesday to increase city turnback revenues by $5 million in each year of the next biennium despite opposition by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

Rockefeller said he would be "forced to veto" the measure because of a lack of revenue. There was some feeling in the House that the bill was designed to embarrass the governor by forcing him to veto it.

In other action, the House passed a bill requiring compulsory immunization of pre-school children, approved and sent to Rockefeller a Senate bill placing restrictions on the Quasi-Judicial Retirement System and passed a resolution reaffirming the legislature's stand on bills vetoed by Rockefeller that would have distributed $2.79 million to the state's teachers.

The Senate passed a House bill designed to bring to a court test a ruling by Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell that state legislators can not receive per diem expenses during the anticipated extension of the regular session.

The senators also defeated an attempt to attach a killing amendment to a House bill permitting the use of coupled vehicles 65 feet long on state highways.

Rockefeller had asked for a $760,000 increase for city turnback in each year of the biennium, but the bill by Sen. Morrill Rathright of Pine Bluff authorizes an increase to $8,740,000 in the next fiscal year and to $13,740,000 the following year.

Rep. Paul Bates of Pine Bluff denied that the bill was designed to embarrass the governor. He said it was intended to relieve the plight of the cities, which he said had received only slightly more than $3 per capita turnback since 1949 despite an increase in state revenues from $50 million in 1949 to an anticipated $200 million next year.

Bates said he was aware the state might not be able to afford the increase, which would take $15 million in revenues in the two years, but he pointed out that the bill only increases the authorization and does not make an actual appropriation.

"We'll leave it to the Revenue Stabilization Act to distribute the money according to how much we have," he said.

Rep. George Nowotny of Fort Smith said the bill was a "hollow promise." He urged the House to exercise fiscal responsibility and defeat it.

"This bill is absolutely necessary but absolutely impossible," he said.

The measure passed 93-3 with Nowotny and Reps. James Sheets of Silcoam Springs and Charles Stewart Jr. of Fayetteville voting against it.

The compulsory immunization bill would require children to be immunized against poliomyelitis, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis (whooping cough) and red measles, but makes exemptions on religious grounds. The bill passed 64-4 with no debate.

The Quasi-Judicial Retirement System measure would declare ineligible for retirement benefits any person who was not a member of the Workmen's Compensation, Public Service or Commerce Commissions in the last 10 years. It is designed to eliminate the so-called "pension for pals" provisions.

The House passed the teacher money resolution 79-10 after the author, Rep. John Bethell of Des Arc, denied that he was stirring up a "Republican-Democrat argument." He was critical of Rockefeller for vetoing the bill distributing the funds and of former Gov. Orval Faubus for not calling a special session to distribute the money.

Some representatives interpreted the measure as being aimed at Rockefeller.

"What good is this going to accomplish?" asked Rep. Andrew Schug of Paragould. Schug asked Bethell if he didn't think "this has already been played to the bitter end?"

"I don't know where the bitter end is," Bethell said. "I will be talking about it (the veto) as long as I am in the legislature and I won't ever forget it."

In the Senate, Sen. Robert Harvey of Swifton proposed that a House bill by Rep. Marion Crank of Foreman be amended to limit vehicular combinations of 65 feet to interstate highways. The senators shouted down the amendment.

Crank's measure would limit any combination of truck tractor and semi-trailer trucks to 55 feet in length on state highways and any combination of coupled vehicles to 65 feet.

HOPE (ARR) STAR. Printed by Offset were too crooked and narrow to accommodate vehicles as long as 65 feet.

"Our roads and highways just aren't ready for them," Harvey said. "This amendment would simply keep them where they should be—on our four-lane interstate highways."

Both the House and Senate adjourned until 9:30 a.m. today. The legislators planned to leave later in the morning to visit various state institutions at Conway.

In other action Tuesday, the Senate:

—Approved 25-0 a bill that would exempt trusts from filing a declaration of income.

—Adopted an amendment that would exclude the state School for the Blind, the state Rehabilitation Service and certain other state agencies from provisions of a bill that would forbid public officials to influence a person's selection of an eye doctor.

—Approved 26-1 a bill that would permit prisoners in the county jails of Greene and Craighead counties to work for 15 per day credit against their fines.

—Approved 28-1 a House bill requiring courts to notify parents of a minor's moving traffic violation.

—Approved 29-0 a House bill declaring the entire state a wild bird sanctuary.

In other action, the House:

—Failed to pass a resolution forbidding campaigning in this session for the House speakership in 1969.

—Passed a bill creating a board to regulate the use of lie detectors.

—Passed a resolution to establish a joint House-Senate committee to study the feasibility of making the McRae tuberculosis sanatorium a facility for the mentally retarded.

No Fish Caught But Derby Planned

COTTONWOOD, Minn. (AP) — An ice fishing derby has been scheduled for Sunday at Cottonwood Lake, where no fish has been reported caught in the past 10 years.

Bror Anderson, president of the Lions Club, which arranged the event, said Tuesday expenses will be held down by not drilling holes in the ice.

In case of bad weather, Anderson added, the contest will be moved indoors.

A lie detector will be provided and Anderson said anyone showing up with a fish will be suspect.

Amendment No. 25 Is Very Near

By JACK MILLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Within weeks the U.S. Constitution is expected to get its 25th amendment. It would provide transfer of power if the president became disabled.

And it would provide for filling a vacancy in the office of the vice president.

To date, 36 state legislatures have ratified the presidential disability and succession amendment. Two more must do so. The Constitution requires approval by three-fourths — 38 — of the legislatures.

The amendment has not been rejected so far by any legislature that has considered it.

The author of the proposal in the Senate, Birch Bayh, D-Ind., predicts the amendment will gain the votes it lacks by the end of March. It goes into effect automatically with the 38th ratification.

A spokesman for the American Bar Association, which recommended the amendment and has been watching its progress, predicted its quick approval, too, Congress gave its final approval in July 1965.

Bayh said in an interview the amendment "doesn't fill all the gaps" in the Constitution on disability and succession "but it fills the two most important and glaring ones."

The first is the lack of a procedure by which the vice president can take over the duties of the presidency if the president becomes so disabled he cannot handle them.

The second is a means for filling immediately the office of vice president when the office becomes vacant for any reason.

Strong public concern about vice-presidential vacancies developed after President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in 1963 and Vice President Johnson became president. The nation was without a vice president until after the 1964 elections, when Hubert H. Humphrey won the office.

Next in line for the presidency before then were Speaker of the House John W. McCormack, then 72, and the president pro tempore of the Senate, Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona, then 86.

The question of presidential disability came up most recently when President Johnson underwent gall bladder and throat surgery last November.

At that time, Johnson and Humphrey used a procedure under which Humphrey became acting president while Johnson was under anesthesia. The arrangement was identical to that used by President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon during Eisenhower's illnesses.

The amendment provides that the vice president would take over as acting president if the president stated in writing he was unable to carry out the duties of the office. The vice president also could take over if a majority of the heads of executive departments sent Congress a declaration of presidential inability.

The president would resume power by sending Congress a declaration that he was again able to serve. This could be overridden if the vice president and a majority of the executive heads told Congress within two days the president was unable, and if Congress concurred by a two-thirds vote.

Vacancies in the vice presidency would be filled on nomination by the president, subject to confirmation by Congress.

States which have yet to ratify the amendment are Alabama, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Minnesota, Montana, Nevada, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, South Carolina, South Dakota, and Texas.

Reuther May Yank UAW Out of Big Union

By NEIL GILBRIDE
WASHINGTON (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther, in quitting the ruling council of the AFL-CIO, squelched rebellious aides who want a total break with the big labor federation now, it was learned today.

Reuther's cold war with AFL-CIO President George Meany yet may lead the UAW chief to yank his union out of the federation, but he used the UAW's own constitution to block such a move for the present.

The UAW is one of only a handful of the 129 affiliated unions whose constitution calls for membership in the 13.5 million member AFL-CIO.

Reuther, who joined Meany in founding the modern "House of Labor", 11 years ago, generally is regarded as the No. 2 man in the federation. Sources in his

Boeing Plant a Possibility

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A representative of Boeing Aircraft will be here March 7-10 to interview prospects for subcontract production of commercial aircraft components, Carl D. Hinkle Jr. said Tuesday.

Hinkle, executive director of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission, said Boeing is seeking facilities in the state.

Detroit headquarters say Reuther wants to avoid a complete break if possible.

Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer, told a UAW regional conference in Milwaukee Tuesday the union has no immediate plans to withdraw from the AFL-CIO. But, he said, "there is always the possibility that we may be compelled to go our own way."

Mazey also said "the days of the UAW sitting back and not criticizing President Meany and other (AFL-CIO) leaders even when it felt they were wrong are over."

Reuther and other UAW officials profess disenchantment with what they call complacency, lack of vision in social, civil rights and trade union affairs, and a too rigid foreign policy under Meany's leadership.

While some UAW advisers said the union's constitutional requirement for AFL-CIO membership is so vague it could be ignored, a majority of Reuther's executive board ruled it "legitimate and binding" before last Friday's announcement that Reuther and all other UAW officials had quit their AFL-CIO posts.

This meant the UAW stayed in the AFL-CIO and Reuther also retained the presidency of the federation's big industrial union department.

The UAW constitution says one of its purposes is "to work as an autonomous international union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations."

Interpreting this as binding blocked one faction of the UAW Executive Board that wanted to go further and immediately withdraw the 1.4 million member union from the AFL-CIO, informed sources said.

The UAW convention in April is expected to be asked to repeal the constitutional requirement for affiliation with the AFL-CIO and put the full power of decision in the hands of the UAW Executive Board.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

A Bed of New Design Wards Off Bedsores

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D. Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the greatest hazards of prolonged confinement in bed is the bedsores that develop as a result of continuous pressure on shoulder blades, hips or heels. In persons whose circulation is none too good to begin with these sores often develop in spite of frequent moving of an invalid from one side to the other and efforts to keep his skin clean and dry. If the invalid, because of impaired bladder or bowel control, involuntarily soils himself the problem is greatly aggravated. Since the weight of the body when floating in water is distributed uniformly over the entire supporting area no pressure sores would develop while the body was thus supported. With this thought in mind Drs. James D. Weinstein and Barry A. Davidson, working at the Rehabilitation Institute, Tufts-New England Medical Center in Boston, devised a bed embodying the principle of total flotation. Their earliest model, although successful, had the disadvantage that it weighed 1,700 pounds. Now sure that they were on the right track, they went back to the old drawing board and came up with a water mattress that weighed less than 250 pounds. It not only eliminated the necessity of turning the patient frequently but also made it possible to roll him out of bed instead of lifting him out. The mattress contains a foam rubber support shaped to fit general body contours, a space into which water is introduced and a plastic outer layer.

When in use, two thicknesses of woolen blanket are placed between the invalid and the mattress to prevent loss of body heat. Although this device was designed chiefly to prevent bedsores it has also been of great value in promoting healing of bedsores that have already developed.

This mattress, sold under the trade name, Total Flotation Therapy, is made by the Scott Paper Co.

Q—Is the sleeping pill, Placidyl, habit forming? Does it have any bad side effects?

A—Placidyl is a brand of etchlorvynol. It is not habit forming but no one should take any kind of sleeping pill regularly because it leads to psychological dependency. Side effects from too large a dose or in hypersensitive persons include dizziness, headache, nightmares, a bad aftertaste, nausea and drowsiness.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Kremlin in Moscow is a great triangular citadel about 1 1/2 miles in circumference. The walls, dating from 1492, are 12 to 15 feet thick and 30 to 50 feet high, says The World Almanac. Within the enclosure are about 40 buildings, mainly palaces, museums and cathedrals. Although the Soviet government is often referred to as the Kremlin, few government offices are located within the area.

Jim: "In the first days of contract every one played limit raises so that if your partner opened one spade and you raised him to three you were making a strong nonforcing bid."

Oswald: "This was logical but there was one weakness. We jumped to four to show a very good raising hand and this made slam bidding so difficult that we got around to forcing jump raises and the use of a new suit bid to show the strong nonforcing raise."

Jim: "This was like going from Chicago to New York by way of Los Angeles. Yet it has been taught to the public for 30 years and is a basic part of Standard American bidding today."

Oswald: "You and I and most of our top players have gone back to limit raises. The reason is that we have been able to put lazy bids to work to cover those hands that cry out for a forcing raise. I hope that the teachers and public will be following us shortly."

Jim: "Here is a hand from 'Win at Bridge with Jacoby and Son' that illustrates the limit raise at its best. North has a good hand that is not quite strong enough to insist on game opposite South's opening spade bid. He gives a limit raise to three and South has enough over a minimum to carry on to game."

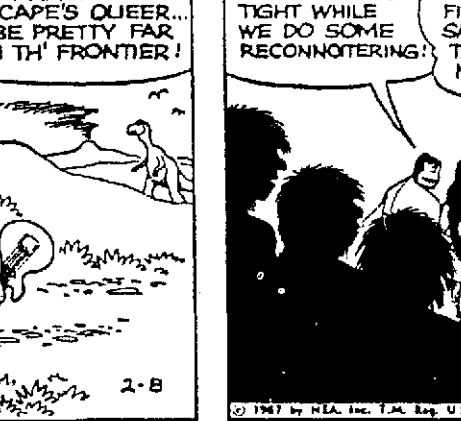

Oswald: "You could get there the long way round with a two-club response by North but this would make it easy for East to come in with a two diamond overcall."

Jim: "Four spades is a lay down because South can take five trumps, four clubs and one heart. On the other hand, East and West can bid five diamonds and go down two tricks for a good 300-point save if the limit raise is not there to shut them out."

Riot Averted at Prison Says Rockefeller

By ROBERT L. SHAW
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A professional penologist who visited Tucker Prison Farm told Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller the dismissal of the prison's supervisory personnel prevented an imminent, violent upheaval at Tucker, the governor said Tuesday.

The penologist told Rockefeller that his action Friday headed off "one of the most dramatic prison revolts in the history of Arkansas and perhaps in the entire nation," the governor said.

Rockefeller declined to identify the penologist, whom he described as highly qualified. The governor said, however, that the man visited the prison Monday and learned that a riot and mass breakout would have occurred two to 24 hours after the firings had Rockefeller not acted.

The governor made the comments in an hour-long, televised news conference styled after presidential news conferences. He swelled at length on Tucker, but cast little additional light on his firing of Pink Booher, assistant prison superintendent in charge of Tucker, and three wardens.

Hate and fear combined to create an "explosive situation," Rockefeller said. He said there were instances of brutality at both Tucker and Cummins Prison Farm, but the "attitude at Tucker is an attitude of fear, a fear of life."

He said he hesitated to go into further detail because he did not want to "muddy the water" for a five-man legislative committee making an investigation of Tucker.

The governor said 15 state troopers would be in charge of the prison until new personnel are named, but he believed tension had been relieved. He said he thought the inmates recognized that he was moving to correct abuses.

Rockefeller said he dismissed Booher and the wardens and placed the prison under the control of the State Police, his aide for prison affairs and some members of the legislative committee that "outside action" was needed.

The governor said the state Prison Board "seemingly had no sensitivity to the problem" at its meeting last Wednesday. Rockefeller told a questioner who asked about the prospects of his changing the board that "my rights . . . are limited by law."

Rockefeller also disclosed that "a confidential source" gave him a copy of the State Police report, whose release touched off the current investigation, before the November general election. He said the source was "fearful it (the report) might get smothered or destroyed," but Rockefeller said he felt he should not use it in any manner before he took office.

Former Gov. Orval Faubus said last week he received a copy of the report only a day before he left office, Rockefeller told newsmen, however, the contents of the report were available to Faubus while it was being prepared.

About 25 reporters attended the news conference, which was televised statewide. The governor touched on a variety of subjects.

He said he would be "forced to veto" a bill passed by the House Tuesday increasing city turnback funds by $5 million in each year of the biennium because the money isn't available.

He said he would support a bill legalizing the sale of liquor by the drink in Garland and Pulaski counties. The governor said he didn't think the state should legislate the habits of tourists and persons attending conventions.

Rockefeller thought the newly created Arkansas Turnpike Authority would make a contribution rather than harm the state's basic transportation program.

He said he had received less than 50 telephone calls, letters and telegrams protesting his veto of the bill distributing $2.79 million to teachers. He also observed that communication between his office and the legislature and state agencies is "much better" than it was two weeks ago.

Rockefeller, asked which way the Republicans must go in order to win in the 1968 presidential election, said much depended on the administrations of the 25 GOP governors.

China Peps Anti-Soviet Campaign

By EUGENE LEVIN
TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung's forces intensified their anti-Soviet campaign today with hostile demonstrations in a dozen Chinese cities and new orders for fighting the Kremlin's brand of communism.

The official New China News Agency said demonstrations were held throughout mainland China to emphasize "China's mounting protest against the Soviet revisionists' outrages."

The Peking correspondent of the Japanese newspaper Yomiuri said Mao had issued instructions for setting up in the Red capital a "liaison station for struggling against revisionism" — China's label for the Soviet brand of communism.

The Maoists also gave new evidence of trouble in their own ranks with a warning to the faithful to be on the alert against a "palace coup" or an "armed coup."

The "Red Guard's Forum" of the Kwangming Daily said Mao's followers have "been re-taking one after another of the positions of power held by a handful of party people taking the capitalist road" but cautioned that the victories would still attempt at a "counter seizure of power."

Maotist criticism of the Chinese army was reported mounting also, with Peking wall posters accusing soldiers of suppressing Mao's followers as well as his opponents. Posters said army units had caused "great confusion" by turning against "truly revolutionary elements" in at least seven provinces.

Some posters indicated the incidents stemmed from inability of the troops to distinguish the good elements from the bad. Other reports from Peking suggested deliberate opposition to Mao in the army ranks.

Caught by the backlash from the anti-Soviet rioting in Peking, the Polish and Hungarian embassies decided to follow the Soviet Union's example and evacuate the wives and children of their staffs. Yomiuri's correspondent said. He said other East European governments, except for Albania and Romania, would probably evacuate their dependents.

The New China News Agency reported anti-Soviet demonstrations in Peking, Shanghai, Tsingtao, Nanking, Kunming, Sining, Nanchang, Chungking, Tsinan, Yinchuan, Hefei and Lanchow.

The new Soviet ambassador to Australia, N.Y. Trankov, said in Canberra that Red China was trying to force the Soviet Union to break diplomatic relations. "It is difficult to say how much longer we can be patient with them," he said.

But Moscow radio in a Japanese-language broadcast said that "despite Peking's anti-Soviet campaign, the Soviet people will not be intimidated into taking any rash step."

Watchdog Was No Protection

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Robert B. Watts told police that a television set and a radio were stolen Tuesday from his home.

Judge Watts said the nighttime robbery occurred as his 21-year-old son slept in a second-floor bedroom and a German Shepherd watchdog patrolled outside the house.

If a suspect is apprehended in the next few days he will be brought before the presiding judge of Northwestern Municipal Court — Robert B. Watts.

Tasmania Has 40 Dead in Brush Fires

HOBART, Tasmania (AP) — At least 40 persons are known dead and the toll is rising in the wake of bush fires that raged across southern Tasmania Tuesday.

Fanned by 70-mile winds, the worst fire in the history of the Australian island state swept through rural areas and lapped at the outskirts of Hobart, the state capital. More than 600 homes were destroyed and the country area was left a blackened expanse littered with dead sheep and cattle. Damage ran into millions of dollars.

The wind shifted during the night and the fires burned out. The Australian Commonwealth Carbide Co. of Electronics, about 20 miles south of Hobart, was razed. The small township of Colebrook, northeast of the capital, was wiped out.

Gov. Sir Charles Gairdner proclaimed a civil emergency and declared Hobart a disaster area.

In the capital, which has a population of 106,000, the flames burned down a brewery, blew up a dynamite factory, partially destroyed newspaper mills and gutted a high school. Prisoners were released from jail to help battle the flames.

Burnt shells of streetcars, churches and houses in some suburbs at the foot of Mt. Wellington gave the city a bombed-out appearance. An orange smoke pall rose to 8,000 feet over one-third of the island, which is slightly larger than West Virginia. The flames severed telephone communications with mainland Australia and put Hobart's radio stations off the air.

At one stage 150 bus passengers on a sightseeing tour narrowly escaped after being ringed by fire in a suburb five miles from the center of Hobart.

City Hall was turned into a first aid station for hundreds of persons suffering from cuts, burns and smoke.

It is summer south of the equator and the fire followed the hottest February day in 68 years. The temperature rose to nearly 103 degrees.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset

Letters to the Editor

Editor Hope Star: This is a protest against the totally unrealistic speed limits which are currently on occasion—and I repeat, on occasion—being enforced by the City of Hope on highways entering the City which are, technically, within the city limits and extensions of city streets; but which are, for all practical purposes, state highways.

This morning I have paid a fine in Municipal Court for driving on Highway 4 in exactly the same manner in which I have driven it some estimated 25,000 times in the past, that is at a realistic 45-50 mile speed. The signs posted in the area give a limit of some 30 miles an hour, therefore, technically, I am wrong. I have pleaded guilty to a breach of the regulation and have paid the fine accordingly. If this were an isolated case, it could be put down to the over-alertness of an eager young patrolman, but there are enough others to indicate it to be the current policy of the City.

Since the ticketing I have faithfully observed the posted signs, and I find that in so doing I am a hazard on the highway. Traffic builds up behind, horns blow, and pretty soon somebody makes the break and starts the flow of traffic around me. If the Hope officers are going to enforce the 30-mile-per-hour regulation on Monday, they should do so on Tuesday, and the rest of the week; as it is embarrassing for those of us required to observe the regulation to be glared at by other drivers passing us at a conservative (but unlawful) 45 or 50. The 30 mile regulation in the vicinity of the Frisco tracks comes close to being as ridiculous as the antiquated ordinance in a New England community directing that each automobile be preceded by a man ringing a bell.

We have been busily trying to build up the image of Hempstead County, and there is nothing in the eyes of an outsider which will tear it down any faster than to be picked up on some unjustified traffic violation. If the City Administration is going to enforce a speed limit on Highway 4, then it needs to bring the regulation up out of the Model T era.

As things now stand, it is rather difficult to enter or leave Hope without violating the law, but if you try right hard you can do it.

Lottery Draft Plan to Be Recommended

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH
WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Commission on Selective Service will recommend to President Johnson next week a lottery draft and the induction of younger men first, sources indicated today.

Informants said the commission has decided the draft must be continued, but needs a major revamping to eliminate inequities and uncertainties.

To do this, sources said, the panel will recommend that youths 18½ and 19 be eligible for the draft first, instead of men 24, 25 and 26 as now provided by the system. After registration and examination, the eligible youths would be included in a 1A pool and chosen for the draft by a lottery.

Informants said the commission plans to call for continuing student and other deferments, stipulating that after graduation a student again be included in the lottery pool and thus face the same exposure to the draft as younger men without deferments.

"The great problem with the present system is the great uncertainty that 18- and 19-year-olds youths face," one informant said.

Defense Department statistics show the average draftee age last year was 20.3 years.

Such a switch long has been endorsed by the department, which contends that younger men make better soldiers and are easier to discipline and train. The department, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and others, have advocated varying versions of a lottery system.

Informants said to eliminate the "inequities that have to do with the present way of deciding who goes and who stays" commission members decided to recommend limiting autonomy of local boards.

They said the panel will urge Johnson to recommend setting up clear, uniform national standards for classifying all draftage men and eliminating present reliance on the more than 4,000 local draft boards — each with varying interpretations of Selective Service guidelines.

In addition, commission members are known to favor a national draft in place of the current procedure of establishing local quotas. This would insure that no area or locality would begin drafting men of a lower call priority until all other draft boards had exhausted the same category.

Johnson named the 20-member commission last summer and ordered it to make an exhaustive study of the draft in the wake of mounting student protests and draft calls. Since late 1964, about 650,000 youths have been drafted.

Informants said a final version of the commission report was mailed Tuesday to members, who may make final recommendations before the report goes to the President, probably next week. Sources said they expected no major changes.

Insiders said the bulk of the major decisions were reached well before the commission's initial reporting date Jan. 1, although actual drafting of the comprehensive study so far has led to a five-week delay.

Johnson is expected to use the commission's report as a basis for his recommendation to Congress, which must act by June 30 to extend key provisions of the present Selective Service law. The issue is expected to get its most thorough congressional hearing since the current law was passed in 1951.

Population Laws in Future Seen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If parents don't limit the size of families voluntarily, then governments may have to pass laws to keep population down, a planned parenthood advocate has predicted.

Dr. Edmund W. Overstreet of the University of California Medical School said world food production showed no increase in 1965 for the first time in history. Yet, he added, world population increased by 65 million the same year.

Extension of Truce Possibility

By SPENCER DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States apparently is keeping an open mind to the possibility of extending the four-day lunar new year cease-fire that began today in Vietnam.

Robert J. McCloskey, State Department press officer, declined to speculate Tuesday on whether the truce might be extended. He said "we will see what happens" if the Communist guns remain silent at the end of the four-day period.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have called for a seven-day truce. The United States and South Vietnam have agreed so far only on the shorter period.

Meanwhile, U. S. officials — responding to a story written for The Associated Press by Australian Communist Wilfred Burchett — said they want reciprocal action from North Vietnam in exchange for a stop to the bombing of the north.

Burchett, who has been a spokesman for the Communists in various situations in East Berlin, Korea and Vietnam, said in a story from Cambodia that Hanoi is ready to enter preliminary talks to find a peace formula — but only if the United States halts all war actions against North Vietnam, including its bombing attacks.

There were these other developments Tuesday:

Senate May Bypass Board Appointment by Gov. Rockefeller

Bill Would Allow Mixed Drinks Sales

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Bills to permit over-the-counter sale of mixed drinks in Pulaski and Garland counties has been introduced in both houses of the Arkansas General Assembly.

The proposal, which Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller says he supports, would permit the sale of alcoholic beverages in cities that are tourist and convention areas.

The measure would require the city to have at least 2,000 hotel or motel rooms and Little Rock and Hot Springs are the only cities that meet this requirement.

If approved and signed into law, the proposal would require a local option election before it could be instituted.

Also introduced in the Legislature Tuesday were:

— A bill to require the governor to call a special election to fill the office of Pulaski County judge.

— A bill to require manufacturers or distributors of milk and ice cream to sell their products to all retail establishments at the same price.

— A bill forbidding the private practice of law by prosecuting attorneys, setting the salaries of prosecuting attorneys, and defining the classifications for judicial circuits.

— A resolution calling for a joint session of the House and Senate at 1 p.m. Feb. 13 to hear a budget address by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

— A resolution directing the Legislative Council to make a study of state election laws for the purpose of clarifying and recodifying them.

— A bill to require approval by the General Assembly for new state Children's Colony facilities other than those at Conway.

— A bill to permit property owners in lands contiguous to a municipality to petition for annexation even though the municipality and the land to be annexed are in different counties.

SENATE
— A resolution calling for a constitutional amendment that would permit the General Assembly to submit nine proposed constitutional amendments to voters in a general election.

— A bill to exempt sand, gravel, soil, lumber, used machinery or equipment and permanent road structures such as precast bridges and culverts from the provisions of the County Purchasing Act of 1965.

Bitter Cold Has East Paralyzed

NEW YORK (AP) — Bitter cold hampered the massive snow removal job as the East struggled today to return to normalcy after a paralyzing blizzard.

The cold spread into the East from the Midwest and plunged overnight temperatures to below zero on the heels of the worst Eastern snowstorm in two years.

At least 39 deaths were attributed to the blizzard.

In New York City, where the mercury dropped to 11 degrees at 2:30 a.m., more than 100 persons took refuge in state armories opened by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to house the snow-bound and others whose apartments and homes had no heat.

Hotels did a booming business Tuesday night.

Most schools were closed again today all along the coast, including those in New York, the nation's largest city.

In New Jersey, Gov. Richard J. Hughes declared today a banking holiday.

Major airports in the East remained closed overnight as crews worked to clear runways to allow at least a limited resumption of operations. These included Kennedy and LaGuardia airports in New York, Newark Airport and Philadelphia International Airport.

In Philadelphia, where 14 inches of snow fell, the city pressed a snow-melting machine into duty on an experimental basis but freezing temperatures proved it ineffective.

The machine sucks up snow, melts it and pumps the water onto the street to run into sewers. But the water froze before it could run off. The city planned to use salt to combat this.

The blizzard dumped 13 inches of snow in New York City, 10 in Washington, D.C., and 9 in Boston. The snowfall in New York was the heaviest in six years.

The storm cut deeply into businesses in many areas, as they came to a practical standstill by noon. Factories, shops, offices and department stores closed. Restaurants and stores were virtually deserted.

"Business was very, very bad," said John Blum, senior vice president of R. H. Macy's, which employs 5,000 persons in nine New York area stores.

Persons working in New York tried to soften the economic impact of the blizzard by fighting through drifts to their jobs. Some leaped over piles of snow to reach the sidewalks. Some fell.

New York City's Commerce and Industry Association surveyed 160 concerns and reported that more than 80 per cent of New York workers made it to their offices and factories, although most of them were dismissed early. The association said the normal absentee rate was about 10 per cent.

Most public transportation facilities in the East were back in service by Tuesday night, but not on regular schedules.

A spokesman for the Long Island Rail Road said the main difficulty was the freezing of switches.

The first session of the Personnel Management Seminar was well received in Hope last night at Red River Vocational Technical School. 83 persons were present to hear Brandon Davis, Director of Public Relations, Division of Planters National Bank, Memphis, Tennessee, included in the 83 were representatives from Arkadelphia, Magnolia, Stamps, Nashville, Centerpoint and Prescott.

The speaker for Thursday night will be Dan Howard, Manager of Business & Technical Service Division, University of Arkansas Industrial & Research Center, Little Rock.

Interested persons may register at the school for the remaining three sessions.

Politics Is Charged on Special Vote

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — There had been rumors of it before the bill came to a vote last Friday, and they lingered after the bill had been defeated, but no one actually made the charge until Tuesday, when it was cited as "just another example of the chicanery going on."

Leveled by a political figure close to the Rockefeller Administration, the charge was that three members of the Pulaski County delegation in the Senate had arranged the defeat of a bill that would have permitted the governor to call a special election to choose a county judge in Pulaski County.

A member of the Senate, who also asked to remain anonymous, said later that a Pulaski County senator had asked him to vote against the bill.

Each of the county's five senators — Max Howell, Dan T. Sprick, Oscar Alagood, Ben Allen and Joe Ford, all of Little Rock — issued vehement denials of the charge, and each declared that he hadn't asked anyone to vote against the bill.

"It is a ridiculous and a damned lie," Howell said. "We did everything we could to pass that bill. I never put more effort into trying to pass a bill than I did that one."

Howell said the bill got only 17 of the 18 votes it needed for approval because it had a statewide application, rather than being limited only to Pulaski County.

"It was just something the State wouldn't buy on a statewide basis," he said.

Howell and Alagood handled the bill in the Senate, and both challenged the persons who made the charges to identify themselves publicly.

"I resent this deeply," Alagood said. "If I had heard about something like that happening, I would have raised my shirt."

Ford said he had told everyone who approached him about the bill that he was going to vote for it. He said he had never asked anyone to vote for or against the measure, but that it was simply a matter of principle with him, and that he never tried to swing another senator's vote on any measure.

"I told them to vote their convictions," Ford said.

Allen said the charge was "totally untrue."

"I frankly am resentful that anyone would make such a charge," he said. "I would not do anything like that."

Channel Bids on Improvements

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — S. J. Cohen Co. of Blytheville, Ark., has submitted an apparent low bid of $104,100 for channel improvement to reduce seasonal flooding of Montachie Creek in Itawamba County in northeast Mississippi.

Army Engineers said Tuesday the government estimate was $138,914.

He said it started as a "very small fire" but the flames spread rapidly.

Many of the 75 or more diners trapped by the flames made their way to safety by breaking out windows and crawling onto the roof surrounding the penthouse. One of them was Bill White of Dothan, Ala., a truckline president who was with Mr. and Mrs. Pepper.

White, his hand bleeding after he had smashed a window and led others to safety, said he saw no trace of the former state official or his wife after the fire erupted with a "whoosh" into a raging inferno.

A cook who tried in vain to put out the flames with a fire extinguisher, Jesse Williams, said the fire had spread too swiftly by the time he could run across the room.

The fire was confined to the rooftop dining room, and none of the 75 to 100 guests living in the apartment hotel was injured. However, the fire department ordered the building evacuated. Downtown hotels took in the stranded guests.

Gls Delight Delighted Over Fact

NEW YORK (AP) — Forty but fighting men in Vietnam will get the address of the miniskirted lassie they saw stepping faintly over a Manhattan snowbank. Not only her address — pinup pictures too. And maybe even a visit from the gal herself.

It all goes back to last Dec. 27, when the snow in Manhattan wasn't quite as high as an elephant's eye, but high enough.

On that date, a New York Daily News photographer snapped a picture of an attractive girl making her way through the snows of Central Park South.

Came a letter to the newspaper from Sgt. Cesar A. Soriano, spokesman for the mortar platoon of Company D, 2nd Battalion, 1st Infantry, 196th Light Infantry Brigade, serving in Vietnam.

Soriano wrote: "Pertaining to your issue of Tuesday, Dec. 27 appears a picture of a young lady by the name of Tina Scala. We have been day after day admiring the picture of the above mentioned brunette."

Tina's photo, Soriano said, produced an overpowering urge on behalf of himself and his 43 buddies to correspond with her, "thereby satisfying the many hearts that are throbbing in high gear."

Tina, actress sister of film star Gia Scala, commented Sunday: "I'm overwhelmed."

Delight showing in her blue-green eyes — the product of her Italian-Irish background, Tina added, "I'm so — how do you say it — it has really hit me."

Miss Scala, whose measurements are 36-24-36, said she would be happy to send letters and pinup shots to her fans in Vietnam. Moreover, she added, she would like to travel to the war zone with an entertainment troupe.

Officials Ousted in Red China

By JOHN RODERICK
TOKYO (AP) — Diplomatic sources in Peking say Red China's President Liu Shao-chi and Communist party general secretary Teng Hsiao-ping have been ousted from their jobs, two Japanese correspondents reported from the Chinese capital today.

The reports to Asahi Shimbun and Yomiuri did not say how or when Mao Tse-tung's two leading foes were removed. But resistance to Mao's campaign to replace their appointees in the party and government machinery throughout China was expected to continue unabated.

The Yomiuri correspondent said Liu had lost both his government and party posts.

Teng could have been expelled from the party secretaryship by the central committee's plenary session last August. But Liu could be legally removed from the presidency only by the National People's Congress which elected him and which is not known to have met since 1965.

Neither Liu nor Teng have publicly exercised their official duties in Peking since last November. But continuing reports from Peking of resistance to Mao's purge indicate that their supporters retain control of wide areas of China.

These other developments were reported from turbulent

Free Advice to the Youth on Just How to Wrest the Best

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Now hear this, young man.

One of the chores of a columnist is to tell youth how to live. No one knows just why columnists are entitled to this privilege, but if they don't exercise it at least once a year they are likely to have their licenses revoked.

So, young fellow, here is my free advice for 1967 on how to wrest the best from life and avoid the pitfalls of a trap-filled world:

If you are idealistic and yearn to improve the human race, try to get the job done by the time you are 25. If you haven't, then concentrate on improving your self.

Sleep on a firm bed. Half the people who wake up tired do so because their bed is too soft.

The other chief source of fatigue is boredom. To avoid boredom make change a routine thing in your life. Never spend two days in a row exactly alike, even if you only eat in a different restaurant or go home by a different route.

Always dry between your toes thoroughly after shower. You can't go far on sore feet.

If you are unable for one reason or another to marry your employer's daughter, marry a girl with a merry mind and a responsible heart. These qualities endure long after beauty does.

Never drink anything except milk or water at lunch until your 60th birthday. Avoid drinking hard liquor before dusk or after midnight.

If you play golf, play it on weekends. The young fellows who sneak out to the country club during the week usually wind upburns.

Ask for a pay rise every 18 months—whether you need it or not. There is no surer way to find out how you stand with the firm. If you get turned down twice, better look for another job.

Don't quit a good job, however, just because you are piqued with your boss. The chances are fairly good that in time he will retire, get fired himself or be sidelined by an ulcer.

Take as little medicine as possible. Too much medicine probably keeps as many people sick as it makes well.

If you learn early that you are inept at handling money, let your wife handle the family income. Then, if you both wind up in the poorhouse, you'll at least have someone besides yourself to blame.

Have at least two children, or adopt a couple. And keep a pet cat, dog, or goldfish in the home. Children and pets do more than anything to keep a household sane—and in an uproar.

If you must gamble, bet on the one thing you can't afford to lose—yourself. It is foolish to bet on a race horse that could have no possible interest in your welfare.

Save 10 per cent of what you earn until get your house paid for, and after that save 15 per cent. Take your wife out at least one evening a week, even if you only stroll around the block together.

Read a book—new or old, good or bad—at least once a month.

Eat sparingly. Every time you eat friend foods follow them with an ounce of castor oil. In time this will cure you of eating fried foods at all.

Whenever you feel tense or depressed, go for a three-mile walk, sit down and write a poem, or take a vacation.

Don't expect too much of other people, and don't depend on good luck. As Jim Farley observed, "...Things don't just happen, they are made to happen."

See as many sunrises as you do sunsets.

Any young fellow of 21 who follows these tips and isn't happy and hale at 65 can bring his complaints to me. By then I'll be 100 years old—and probably have even better advice.

The Story on China Today: Nobody Knows the Truth

TROUBLE IS BREWING in Red China, but outsiders can't be sure just what's happening.

By LEON DENNEN
Foreign News Analyst
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The only truth about the developments in Red China is that nobody in the West or East really knows the whole truth.

Winston Churchill once said of Communist Russia that it was "a riddle wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma." But historic events took a new turn in the last three decades. Today it is China that is the great enigma while even Russia has become, by comparison, a relatively open society.

Thus, much of what has been written by the China watchers from Hong Kong and Tokyo has been discredited by subsequent events. Much that is reported today could become obsolete tomorrow.

Nevertheless, specialists on communism see a deadly parallel between Mao Tse-tung's current "Great Cultural Revolution" and Stalin's blood purges in Russia.

Like Russia in the 1930s, China is, from all outside appearances, still suffering from the childhood diseases of revolution which afflict every developing nation at one time or another. That these diseases are still virulent in Red China 17 years after its coming into the world political arena is by no means a unique phenomenon.

Stalin's blood purges took place some 20 years after the Communists seized power in Russia. It took another two decades before the Soviet Communist party reached a point where it is being run, at least for the present, by what seems to be a stable leadership.

The underlying reason for the current convulsions in China seems to be Mao Tse-tung's fear of letting his revolution lose its real Marxist-Leninist fervor and deteriorate into a revisionist and gradualist revolution.

The victory of revisionism in Russia and

Cong Releases French News Woman

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—Tall, attractive French news-woman Michele Ray emerged from 21 days of Viet Cong captivity today dressed in black pajamas — the guerrilla uniform — and "feeling great."

The former Paris fashion model looked thinner than when she disappeared Jan. 17. She smiled and embraced journalist friends when she stepped off a helicopter at Hammond Air-strip, a forward base of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, division near Phu Cat on the central coast.

Miss Ray, 28, declined to talk about her experience, saying only, "I'm feeling great." There were indications when she vanished that she had planned it that way.

She had been driving north with two Vietnamese students in what she said was an attempt to travel the 600-mile length of South Vietnam. Her small white French car was found in a ditch about six miles north of Bong Son, in the central coastal lowlands 280 miles northeast of Saigon.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Ray of Nice, France, said she had written them early last month:

"I do not want to make a documentary (movie) on the war as such but rather to show the suffering endured by those fighting. I have lived with the American soldiers and I have only one last sequence to film. I will have to pass to the Viet Cong side to film it."

Miss Ray said in the letter the Viet Cong had once seized her but let her go after they found she was a French journalist.

An American spokesman said the freelance newswoman walked alone into a village north of Quang Ngai today. A U.S. helicopter picked her up. The spokesman said she appeared to be in excellent physical condition. The village was about 60 miles from where she disappeared.

Value of Bombings Assessed

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—The American bombing offensive against North Vietnam is two years old Tuesday.

To date, it has cost the United States more than 400 pilots dead, captured or missing and 471 aircraft worth roughly $1 billion by Pentagon estimates.

In the wake of publicity and protests about the bombing, a great debate is raging. Is the bombing worth it? Or is the offensive, as some insist, largely a failure in achieving U.S. objectives?

Frequently North Vietnam hints that the bombing is the greatest single obstacle to negotiations on the Vietnam war. But Hanoi has failed to say what it would do to scale down the war if the offensive is halted.

There are confusion and apparent contradiction in official statements about the effectiveness of the raids on the North.

Some say stop the bombing altogether. Others say restrictions on U.S. pilots create frustrations for them and sanctuaries for the enemy in the North. Some say the restrictions render ineffective the effort to impede infiltration of troops and supplies to the Viet Cong in the South.

President Johnson says the United States is "conducting the most careful and self-limited air war in history."

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., leading Senate protests against restrictions, says: "One thing is sure. We must either fight or get out."

Here are some major complaints of U.S. pilots and other military men:

U.S. bombers use approved and known runs to established targets, and the North Vietnamese, aware of this, can concentrate heavy antiaircraft fire.

U.S. airmen now are forbidden to bomb key targets in the North: industrial complexes, oil depots and the vital irrigation system, either because of a possibility of hitting civilians or because of prospective political complications.

U.S. pilots must bypass barges loaded with trucks and ammunition, must pass up enemy airfields crowded with Communist jet warplanes. One flier said he had to fly past barges unloading trucks and supplies "which later I attack, with questionable success, in the jungles of the Ho Chi Minh Trails."

After a tour of Vietnam recently, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, reported a trend in the Communist North to disperse antiaircraft batteries and key supply depots among heavily populated areas because the Communists know "our policy is not to attack populated areas per se." The net result, he said, was in some instances to make installations immune to attack.

Washington sources have reported the administration in January barred bomber flights from an area 10 miles in diameter over the center of Hanoi, which can be penetrated only if an American pilot is engaged in air combat with enemy fighters. But one source said this hardly mattered because "we're so restricted anyway."

LBJ Doing Some Mending Politically

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Johnson administration is moving to shore up its bases for the 1968 election — including states where former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace might cause it trouble.

Administration strategists are lining up some Southern governors and senators to run as presidential favorite sons in 1968 primaries if necessary to muffle Wallace at the Democratic National Convention.

And Democratic state chairmen and vice chairmen have been asked to meet here March 30-31 to discuss campaign planning.

Two names listed as possible pro-Johnson favorite sons are Gov. John J. McKeithen of Louisiana and Sen. Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina.

McKeithen won administration favor last month when he accused Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York of wanting the President defeated in 1968 so Kennedy could reunite the party and become its 1972 nominee.

The administration also was reported as highly satisfied with Georgia Gov. Lester G. Maddox's visit with Johnson last week, though no one is predicting he's going to turn out as an ardent Johnson supporter.

Part of the bridge-building in Southern states where the President is regarded as politically unpopular is to insure the national Democratic ticket will at least be on the ballot.

Strategists believe they could win some doubtful states in a three-way race if Republicans and Wallace split the anti-administration vote.

The March 30-31 meeting of state Democratic leaders, called by John M. Bailey, national party chairman, recognizes by implications the criticism voiced by some leaders after Republican gains in last November's elections.

Bailey said the meeting

Youth of 6 Lifts 135 Lbs.

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP)—James Rundell says his 54-pound son, Sean, 6, can lift a 135-pound weight.

He added that he and his son recently had walked 50 miles in 15 hours, 49 minutes, and rode bicycles 100 miles "to show what an American boy can do."

Rundell, 38, said he owns a gymnasium in nearby Lomita. His son, oldest of four brothers and sisters, has been lifting weights since he was 4.

"comes at a time in our preparations for the 1968 campaign when an exchange of national - state party views and plans is especially important."

"We will have announced a number of specific and important programs and we will have others in the planning stage" by meeting time.

On the Republican presidential front, GOP House Leader Gerald R. Ford said in an interview today he considers Michigan Gov. George Romney as "still the front runner."

Spy Novel Takes in War

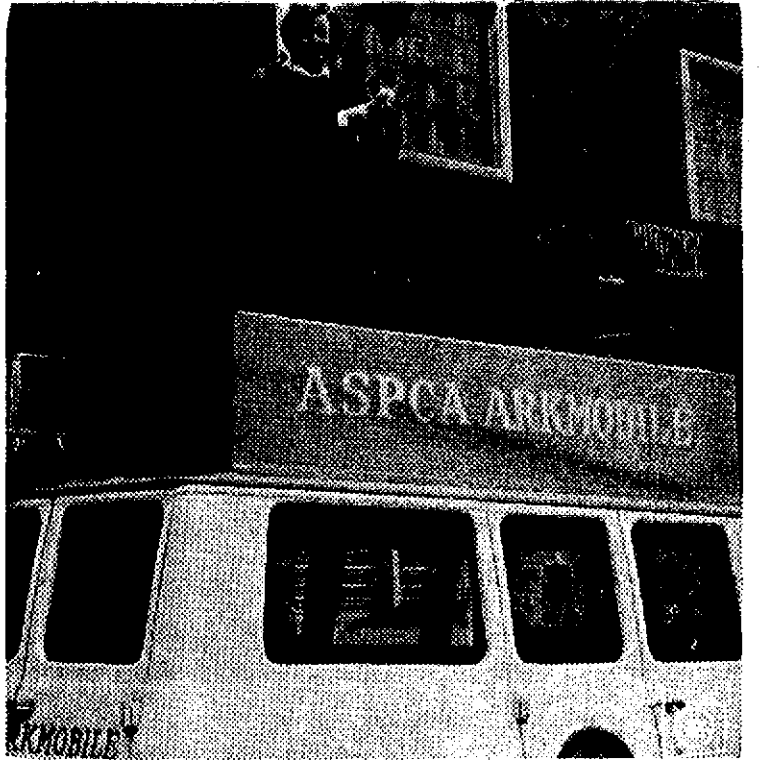

THE TIME OF THE HAWK, by Andrew Tully. Morrow. $4.95.

The scene of this extravagant bit of fiction is South Vietnam. There has been a cease fire, and an election is imminent.

A ruling triumvirate (soon reduced by gunfire to two) wants to get American troops out of the country as soon as possible, so the election can be controlled.

In comes Brooks Baldwin, an American senator of the hawk school, and an amateur spy, who has been assigned by the American President to see what he can do about the situation.

Baldwin's principal problems are a phony religious leader and a gangster general, who have the upper hand.

THE ARK UPDATED is a specially fitted station wagon, dubbed the Arkmobile, used by Diana Henley, head of humane education activities of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals on her rounds. Taking animals with her to bring children a personal glimpse of nature, she makes field trips to schools, churches, settlement houses and other organizations in the New York City area. Miss Henley, editor of ASPCA's just-published "Guide to Dog Care," reaches some 128,000 children a year via the Arkmobile.

While the senator is dashing about, he finds time to have an affair with a sexy member of Vietnam's wealthy aristocracy, a woman named Thuy, who (believe it or not) happens to be a free lance spy on the American President's payroll.

The religious phony seems to be backed by a billionaire Communist named George Hill, and Hill's crowd has turned up some evidence of corruption in the American President's administration. The idea is to blackmail the President into ordering the troops home. Gunplay marks the finish, of course. One of the good guys isn't good, and one of the bad guys turns out to be a double agent.

Recently we've had a spate of novels about war, threats of war, American Presidents in trouble, and amateur spies. Tully seems to be trying to outdo them all. The writing is pretty hackneyed, and so is the dialogue.
